Whether our city is your home, your workplace, or you are merely visiting, I hope that you enjoy this special place that is Batesville, Indiana.

Mayor Mike Bettice

Visit our Batesville Historical Center located at 15 W. George St. which showcases artifacts & photos that represent the city's past.

Batesville's early beginnings are tied to a young man's dream of owning and working a piece of farmland in Southeastern Indiana.

Teunis Amacks and his newlywed wife purchased 120 acres of government land in Ripley County's Laughery Township in 1837 and built his home out of the area's hardwood logs and dug a well.

In 1852, Amack sold his homestead to the John Callahan Trust Company to build a railroad right-of-way and establish a town. It was then that the city was laid out into 45 lots, creating the original downtown. The railroad ran through the center of the town, making use of Amack's well to power the locomotives. Joshua Bates, a member of the Callahan Trust Company, was the first to build his home on lot number one. It is from Joshua Bates, that Batesville is said to have received its name.

Read more history by visiting the Batesville Area Historical Center or exploring the Portals to the Past, a Self-Guided Tour of Downtown Batesville.

Celebrating
Over
100 Years!

Dr. C. W. Gibson built a new theatre in 1921 on Main Street with up-to-date plans for regular theatrical plays as well as moving pictures. It began bringing the most celebrated screenplays in production in 1922. "Talking pictures" were installed in 1929. Electrical pianos had long been in use following hand and player pianos. Victrolas, gramophones, and local orchestras were all replaced by sound pictures.

The Gibson is a quaint structure reminiscent of one of the neon-lit buildings one would find along historic Route 66. One of the unique features of the Gibson is its balcony seating. It is truly like stepping back in time when visiting the Gibson.

Lessons for a Lifetime

At St. Louis Catholic School, we understand the vital need to give children spiritual and intellectual guidance - to help them gain a sense of clarity about who they are and what God expects of them. From Preschool to 8th grade, we're preparing our students to answer God's call as they move toward high school and future roles in family and community by helping them build a strong foundation anchored in faith and knowledge. We find joy in teaching our students to live for Jesus, love others, and learn.
